Ross Hill's reaching a Pinnacle

I'VE made no secret of the fact that my taste buds are quite at home with wines out of the Orange wine region.

The era of discovery continues with the latest release from Ross Hill Wines and their Pinnacle series.

The outstanding gem is found in the Cabernet Sauvignon 2009.

This is a knockout, a superb offering, a wine with immense character.

Be prepared to pay around $40 for Orange reds, but rest assured there should be real rewards later down the track. Ross Hill deserves a visit, whether it be a tasting with friends, or an actual personal visit to the region itself. Mount Canobolas is calling, and I heed the message. A single tasting and you'll be another convert.
